Incore Bank AG becomes new main partner of Swiss Tennis Padel

Schlieren / Biel, January 29, 2026: Swiss tech bank Incore Bank AG is now main partner of Swiss Tennis Padel. Together, the two companies want to further professionalize and sustainably strengthen padel in Switzerland. A particular focus of the collaboration is on expanding the existing Incore Padel Cup, which brings together financial experts and corporates from Switzerland.

For around two years, Swiss Tennis has been committed to the targeted development of competition and training in this dynamic, rapidly growing sport, which is mainly played in Swiss Tennis member clubs, with its own padel division.

René Stammbach, President of Swiss Tennis, sees the new partnership as confirmation that the organization is on the right track: « In Incore Bank AG, we are gaining a strong partner that shares our values and our vision for padel. The synergies between sport, entrepreneurship, and shared goals create the ideal conditions for further professionalizing padel at the national level. With our expertise in the field of sports and the network of Incore Bank AG, we are combining two important assets in a joint, effective commitment to strengthening padel in Switzerland. »

« Padel stands for innovation, dynamism, and teamwork - values that also shape our identity as a tech bank », says Mark Dambacher, CEO of Incore Bank AG. « Through our partnership, we want to help promote the professional development of the sport in Switzerland and further increase its visibility. The expansion of the Incore Padel Cup is a prime example of how sport and business can benefit from each other and how new networks can be created. We look forward to continuing this success story together with Swiss Tennis Padel. »

Launched in 2024, the Incore Padel Cup is set to be expanded into a tournament series with four qualifying tournaments in German-speaking and French-speaking Switzerland and Ticino from 2026 onwards, thanks to the collaboration between Incore Bank AG and Swiss Tennis Padel. As a highlight at the end of the year, the final of this B2B tournament series will be held in November at the Swiss Tennis Padel National Performance Center in Biberist/SO.

About Swiss Tennis Padel

Swiss Tennis Padel is the official padel division of Swiss Tennis and promotes the advancement and professionalization of padel in Switzerland. The association organizes a national competition and licensing system, tournaments, and training opportunities for players, coaches, and clubs. With its National Performance Center in Biberist (SO), Swiss Tennis Padel has created a central location for competition, training, and community development, thereby supporting the sustainable development of this rapidly growing sport in Switzerland. Swiss Tennis Padel already has over 50 members and more than 1,500 licensed players.
